

Josh Schneider

With an infectious enthusiasm for plants and a passion for far-reaching new ideas, Josh is a force to be reckoned with. His work with the Breadfruit Institute over the past several years has paved the way for the collaboration between the NTBG and Cultivaris via Global Breadfruit.

Josh formerly ran the sales, marketing and product development departments of one of the largest greenhouse operations in the US.

He works with plant breeders to develop new and improved crops and bring those plants to market globally.
